

Citizens Plan Fish and Game Conservation

Bob Puckett Is Principal Speaker; Urges Support of Universal Hunting and Fishing License

Fifty citizens met in the district courtroom last night and formed an organization to promote game and fish conservation in this county. Stuart H. Condon was chosen chairman and Donald Trolinger was elected secretary.

It is only through an organization of this kind that the county can request restocking of streams. The principal speaker of the evening was Bob Puckett, state game warden. He discussed the value of a universal hunting and fishing license in carrying on the game and fish conservation program. Texas is the only state in the Union that does not have such a license, he said. Under the present system only those who fish with artificial bait are required to pay a tax. The revenue from this alone does not provide enough money to properly carry on the conservation program. He urged that everyone write his state senator and representative and ask him to support the measure providing for the universal license when it is introduced this fall.

Mr. Puckett directed attention to the value of a game and fish conservation educational program among youth organizations.

The increased admission fee at Palo Duro State Park was discussed as a direct phase of the program. Lee Johnson explained that writing Pat M. Neff, head of the state park board, would help to indicate this section is not in accord with the increased entrance fee.

An advisory council was appointed by Chairman Condon. Those on the council are J. W. Bourn, Chas. Franz, J. E. Carruth, John H. Wright, J. W. McCrery, Hudson Prichard and Ross Craig.

State Park Board Member Visits Palo Duro Park Monday

Wendell Mayes, new member of the state park board from Brownwood, praised highly the Palo Duro State Park after his first visit Monday.

"It is one of the most beautiful sites in the Southwest and I can readily understand why it is so popular with the people of the Panhandle. When more facilities are made available at the park, I can imagine that it will attract thousands of tourists and citizens from great distances who will want to pass several days in the canyon."

Mr. Mayes assured the continued cooperation of the state, and voiced the opinion that the national government would continue to keep CCC workers in the park.

Serious consideration is being given to the problem of entrance fee at the park by the state board, he said. He explained that the new additional charge was in keeping with a contract made between the state and the land owners, but declared that the members of the park board did not wish to do anything that would curtail attendance.

Mr. Mayes heads the Brownwood delegation to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Amarillo.

Rotary Program Given By Delegates Tuesday

The program at the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday was turned over to the members attending the 41st district conference. Dr. H. A. Brown was chairman of this group.

M. H. Rockwell talked on the inspiration a Rotarian obtains by attendance at a district conference. W. H. McIntyre told the club that one of the main points stressed at the conference was attendance. "There is no correspondence course in Rotary" was the way H. C. Anderson of Ranger put it.

T. H. Knighton told a few incidents that happened on the trip and Bill Smith gave a general outline of the conference program. Lee Johnson and Dr. H. A. Brown will make their reports at the meeting of May 26.

Visiting Rotarians were Phil Purdum and Bob Field of Amarillo. William Redmond of Dallas was a guest of Charles Dickey.

A. W. Hawks visited his brother, who is ill in Albuquerque, N. M.

Rural Graduation Exercises Will Be Held in Canyon

Seventh grade graduation exercises for all Randall County rural schools will be held in the high school auditorium Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Deputy State Supt. J. D. Wilson will make the commencement address and Judge Burney Slack will award the diplomas.

A massed graduation of this type affords a much better program and enables the pupils to appear before a much larger crowd than if the exercises were held in the local community as has previously been done.

Graduates from Connelly, Trigg, Jowell, Sunny Hill, Fairview, Umbarger, Zita, Johnson, Wilson, Terrell, Blanca, Stone, Palo Duro and Pierce will take part in the exercises. The public is invited to attend the exercises, Judge Slack said.

Many Loans Made During Past Year Farmers-Stockmen

More than 7,000 farmers and stockmen in Texas borrowed over $5,000,000 during the first four months of the year in order to finance their 1936 crop and livestock operations on a cash basis. According to Tully C. Garner, president of the Production Credit Corporation of Houston, this amount represents an increase of more than $1,600,000 over commitments made during the same period in 1935, when farmers and stockmen received commitments amounting to $3,397,517. In the period of March 1, 1934, to April 30, 1936, commitments amounting to $22,794,442 were made.

Organized early in 1934, these farmers' short-term lending associations have advanced a total of over $31,000,000 to Texas farmers and stockmen to grow crops, finance ranching activities, purchase fertilizers, farm supplies, machinery and work stock. Operated by farmers on a co-operative basis and supervised by the Farm Credit Administration, the production credit associations are partly owned by the borrower-members and serve in every county in Texas.

CCC Inspectors-National Park Men Here Thur.

About six hours were spent in a thorough inspection of the Palo Duro State Park and Company 2875 of the Civilian Conservation Corps located there Thursday by J. J. McEntee, first assistant to Robert Fechner, who is director of all CCC work. Others in the party were Mr. Billips, Fechner's southern inspector; Captain Wood, district commander, of Lubbock; and National Park Inspector J. E. Kell of Amarillo.

Wm. Anderson, superintendent at the park, reported Mr. McEntee as being greatly impressed with the possibilities of the Palo Duro State Park after the visitors, together with the superintendent, had made a very complete inspection.

Thursday happened to be one of the most disagreeable days that this section of the country had experienced for some time. Mr. Anderson states that the wind blew and the sand was terrific. Hail and rain completed the pranks of nature for that day; so the inspectors got a pretty good idea of the handicaps under which work at the Park must be done.

Mr. McEntee made a very interesting talk to the enrollees of the camp, telling them of the CCC history and giving its aims, thus encouraging them in their work.

EDDIE UNDERWOOD SLOWLY IMPROVING

Lates reports concerning the condition of Miss Edrie Underwood, victim of a recent auto accident, show that she is gradually improving, and a few visitors are now permitted to see her. She will be in a plaster cast three months or longer, depending upon her condition and rate of improvement.

J. W. Reid of Dallas arrived in Canyon yesterday. He will be here attending to business interests a week or 10 days.

G. G. Foster made a business trip to Claude Wednesday morning.

Drivers Should Heed Stop Signs Placed Over Town

(An Editorial)

City police officers and night watchmen are protesting at the way in which the traffic rules and regulations are being ignored by drivers of cars and trucks.

New stop signs have only recently been placed at dangerous intersections over the town, but only a very small per cent of the drivers ever seem to notice them, or heed their command to stop. If these stop signs were not necessary the City of Canyon certainly would not have gone to the expense of purchasing them and hiring them placed at the most-used and dangerous crossings in the town! Many wrecks and accidents may easily be avoided by observing the STOP signs whenever they are placed, even though you don't see any cars or pedestrians as you are nearing the crossing.

Let's everybody get behind this safety warning from the officers and keep our community free of avoidable accidents!

The time has come when the South and West must look more closely into their agricultural program. Cotton growers, for instance, must realize that in growing a cotton crop, they are producing not one, but two important crops. Lint cotton is certainly important because it helps to clothe the world; and cottonseed are important because they help feed the world. The unstable market for lint cotton in the past has forced many of the cotton growers to look to other products for more of their income. It might be wise to put the cottonseed crop in the lead for a while and increase new markets for this product by educating our people to the use of vegetable oil in the every-day diet. On the other hand, cattle raisers must realize that in raising cattle they produce more than just beef steak, and in order to make a profit, every pound of surplus edible beef fat must be used in products most valuable to the consumer. To do this it would be well for the cotton grower and cattle raiser to work together because of their common interest and should share any markets that are created. Fat is one of the most essential elements of the human diet as it provides heat and energy to the human body. In that respect cottonseed oil and beef fats are unexcelled and if the cattle raisers and cotton growers will get behind this movement extra dollars will be coming their way long before the oil wells have gone dry.

Beginning last Friday and continuing through Sunday, Boy Scouts of the Amarillo Area Council were camped at the Palo Duro State Park together with their directors and managers. An inestimable amount of good comes from these meetings for the boys that are old enough to realize and appreciate the value of friendships. Owen W. Matthews of Portland, Ore., is the winner of the Eddie Cantor $5,000 scholarship prize essay contest entitled, "How Can America Stay Out of War?" The winner's whole approach to his subject was based on his two weeks experience camping in a foreign country with several thousand Scouts from 46 different lands, plus the friendships with foreign boys in the years that have followed. He wrote: "... I went to the Jamboree and there found my solution for future world peace. While a member of this wonderful Jamboree I learned what true brotherly love meant. After these contacts how could we ever want to go to war against each other?" He continues: "If the United States government sent picked groups of youth to these international gatherings, expenses paid, it would open the eyes of youth the world over as to the futility of war. If adults in youth the crime of war, as adults these boys will wholeheartedly disfavor war. Peace gatherings and encampments of youth from all countries will do more to further world peace than adult peace conferences held in some castle or other building." The ideas set forth in this Scout's winning essay might possibly be a means of permanent world peace. Good sound friendships are not easily broken up. Much credit is due the loyal scoutmasters who instill such good thoughts into the minds of their charges.

GOOD MORNIN' LADY, COULD I INTEREST YOU IN THIS SPLENDID MAGAZINE—ROCK GARDEN? HOW TO BUILD THEM?

March, but the figures of the National Safety Council for the month show that he worked on a shorter shift. There was a drop of 18 per cent in automobile fatalities for the month, bringing the death toll for the first quarter of 1936 9 per cent below the same period last year. If you are thinking of cheering over the fact, reflect that 6,850 persons were killed in the three months. That is still at the rate of 27,250 each year, or enough people to form the fourteenth city in Texas in size of population.

National Safety Council figures that the first quarter reduction meant 650 lives saved. The trouble is the 650 go on heedlessly about their business without knowing how lucky they were. If there were some means of letting every person know that he was marked for death, but for the grace of somebody's more careful driving or better regard of traffic laws, there would be 650 strong crusaders for safety first.

Think over your own experience of the last three months. How many times did death brush you by? How many occasions were there when the least change in the situation would have precipitated you into accident and possibly death? The dark angel hovers daily over nearly every person in traffic but, if it is only the whir of his wings, not the touch of his cold hand that we experience, we forget about it.

New Library Books

By Mrs. S. D. Burton

"The Hurricane," by Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall, the authors of "Mutiny on the Bounty."

"The Hurricane" is a modern story of one of the small islands of the Low Archipelago, that sprawling group of dots on the map of the Pacific that spreads over a thousand miles from Tahiti to Pitcairn. The population consisted of 150 Polynesians and four Europeans: Monsiuer and Madam de Laage, the stern French Administrator and his wife; Father Paul, the tender-hearted priest, and Dr. Kersaint, the medical officer. Captain Nagle, the English skipper whose trading schooner was their only link with the outside world, was an occasional visitor. The serenity of this island Paradise is shattered by the return of a native son, Terangi, an escaped convict. In the hue and cry the white men and natives are brought into subtle opposition. But the issue is decided not by man but by nature, for there sweeps down upon the island a storm, overpowering, inhuman, majestic—a hurricane that tests the strength and temperament of these different races to the breaking point.

For 15 years Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall have lived in the South Seas. They know the serenity and devotion implicit in the island life; they know the gigantic sweep of wind and sea which forever imperil the coral communities.

In Josephine Lawrence's "If I Have Four Apples," that ennobling slogan "we are created free and equal," shows its seamy side, and an American family is portrayed as a victim of the belief that everyone can have a college education, can own a house, an electric refrigerator, a cemetery lot, and a grand piano. Rose Hoe, the lovable but misguided mother of three children, slaves tirelessly for them, in the vain hope they will get ahead. But she can't master simple arithmetic. She is a romantic who thinks that two apples plus two apples equals eight.

"A Grain of Wheat" by Toyohiko Kagawa. Kagawa stands foremost among the notable figures of Japan. Born to high station, he chose instead to follow the vision of Christ, and plunged into the squalor of the slums, where through 15 years of service he has acquired an unparalleled insight into the problems of his people. At first a suspect of the police, he has risen to important posts, and has served as head of the Social Service Bureau of Tokyo. At present he is the outstanding Christian of the Orient. He knows his people, and shared their aspirations as he has shared their poverty. In him we can see the oppressed masses of the East awaking from the sleep of centuries and stretching out for new ideas. In "A Grain of Wheat" he endeavors to give his own expression and direction to the boundless energies of his race. Over a million and a quarter copies of this book have been sold.

While embers glowed the reconstruction started

Before the flames had reached the telephone switchboard in the little Arkansas town—before the swirling wall of smoke had driven operators from their posts—plans for rebuilding the fire-doomed office were under way.

At a great warehouse in a distant city, men were loading a new switchboard, new telephone cable, new office equipment, into express cars. Nearer to the spot, cable splicers and workmen skilled in telephone construction were being taken from their jobs and rushed toward the office about to be destroyed by fire.

While embers still glowed in the fire-twisted skeleton of the old office, the work of reconstruction was under way.

One advantage of the Bell System's far-flung organization is this: When disaster flattens the telephone system, men and money and materials are instantly available for the prompt repair of the damage.

MILLIONS OF POUNDS HAVE BEEN USED BY OUR GOVERNMENT

Panhandle-Wide Centennial Fete To Be in Pampa

A Panhandle-wide Centennial celebration will be held in Pampa June 2 to 5, inclusive. It will be the only Panhandle-wide celebration of its kind this year and Pioneers of this section from far and wide are expected.

The entire program is being dedicated to the "sustained courage" of Panhandle Pioneers. Three big pageants depicting the struggles of early-day settlers, and the first great scouts of the Panhandle will be staged during the celebration, along with a big parade each day, two or more dances each evening, rodeo each afternoon except the first, when baseball will be on the card. Other entertaining features include a polo game, a horse show and a relic auto race.

Governor James V. Allred speaks June 2, Boy Scout Day, June 3 is Oil Men's Reunion Day; June 4 is Old-Timers' Day, and June 5 is Governor's Day, with Governor Clyde Tingley of New Mexico billed to make the principal address.

Old relics are being hunted in every town to be entered in the old relic contest. Special invitations are extended to all old-timers who will be entertained with a free barbecue, dances, and other entertainment features.

Pampa citizens have donned cowboy boots and hats to give the proper setting for the celebration, and are using wooden money as legal tender. The wooden money carries the pictures of two outstanding Panhandle Pioneers, Col. Charles Goodnight and T. D. Hobart.

Looking Toward 3-Year-Old Title

Race followers changed their opinions about how 3-year-old honors for 1936 would be divided after the great, but unexpected, victory of Bold Venture, above, in the Kentucky Derby. Pictured with his mascot on arrival in New York after his triumph in the Kentucky classic, the colt seems to be looking to the other big races of the campaign with plenty of optimism.

Museum Acquires Prized Collection of Fifty Letters

A valuable contribution to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum has recently been made by W. S. Mabry of Selma, Ala., who donated between forty and fifty personal letters written to him by the late Jim East who was for seven years sheriff of Oldham County and lived in Old Tascosa. East and Mabry were friends and neighbors.

These letters are important for their historical significance in connection with Old Tascosa and the Panhandle. "This is the kind of material the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society is anxious to get hold of," said Prof. L. F. Sheffy, head of the history department of the West Texas State Teachers College, and secretary to the Historical Society.

Mr. Mabry was a surveyor in Northwest Texas in the 70's and 80's. He is an active member of the Historical Society and very greatly interested in preserving the history of the Panhandle and Great Plains region. He has many friends and acquaintances in the Texas Panhandle.

Hot cha, talkin about that Junior play, it was shore nuff gud. Sherman an Dell is jus about th best nigers I ever seen, but frum what I can see th seniors is goin to put on a play jus as gud. In thet rehearsal I seen tother day I decided that Fred Hart was goin be a shore nuff entertainer, an did Overton look gud makin love to Fay, but thet Ruby will shore take th audience. I never laffed so much in my life.

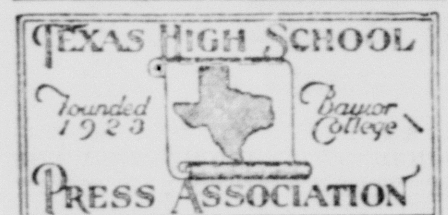

It shore was peaceef Friday without th seniors. Thet Mary Collins shore is a good substitute teacher fer Miss Goodrich. You know Miss Goodrich went to Carlsbad with th seniors. They beena talkin like they really had sum fun too. Wonder what Pat Cox thout of his trip. Thet little red-head a callin an cooin "Pa-at, Pa-at" throughout the cavern. I wonder how thet sounded in th world's biggest cave, an when she had to leave, he found a purty little blond to console him.

I hear thet Jack an Hal an Boots got em sum purty gals too but they got more than they could use; so they called Tubba, Overton, O. D., an Bud Phillips to take care of th surplus. Whatta stampe, Tubba was already busy with Glenna B. Eastwood who was there from Roswell. Sewel an Jack Nell stayed true to home talent (Ruby an Fay). Yessir an Joe Frank an Fred Hart worked fer once! Loretta an Sarah Bonnie had to be brought out of th cave. I dunno whether Fred brought Sarah out or Sarah brought Fred out. Jus th same Joe Frank brou Loretta out.

Mr. Cox sorter found him a fergit-me-not to remember it by (a big tall bear-grass lookin thing called a century plant), an Mrs. Davis thout she was in th rmpew when they got in the Hall of th Giants part of th cave, cause she thout th sign shed Hall of th Saints. However when she got there she changed her mind, cause you know how tall Mary Ella is.

Yessir here at home we had sum more love fallin. Jimmie Sol fell fer Joe Gill, plumb down th stairs in his arms, too. I heer Lillian Chambers is carryin a Eastwood burd high too.

Cram, Cram!
Or Pass Exam?

Great haste is not always good speed. A pigeon, which was very thirsty, saw a glass of water painted on a sign. She supposed it to be real, so dashed at it with all her might. When she struck the board, she broke her wing and fell to the ground, helpless, where she was quickly captured by a passer-by.

Cramming for final exams fits in very well with this story. Are students not deceived in thinking cramming is a good way to pass courses? Do they not become injured and fall more often than they get by with it, like this poor pigeon? Shouldn't students observe practical occurrences and thus profit by them?

Rural Graduates
Will Hear Condron
At Commencement

J. D. Wilson, Deputy State Superintendent, will deliver the Commencement address to approximately 60 Seventh Grade Rural School graduates of this county Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Students from 12 different schools including Zita, Palo Duro, Ralph, Lakeside, Conneley, Burch Stone, Jackson, Wilson, Hudson, Jewell, and Garrison, will receive their diplomas.

This is the first time in the history of Randall county that the rural schools have joined together for their seventh grade graduation exercises.

This method of a county-wide graduation has been used throughout the state. It affords the students the opportunity of appearing before a large audience and encourages the rural school students, because more publicity and honor is given to the graduates.

Seventh Grade
Will Present
Pageant

A musical pageant, "Blue Bonnet Land," will be presented next Tuesday night by the seventh grade for their graduation exercises.

The pageant is in keeping with the Texas Centennial. It shows the advantages immigrants will find in Texas. There will be students dressed as different vegetables and grains representing crops grown in Texas.

This pageant will be given for the seventh grade graduation. There are 42 students being graduated.

5A History Makes
County Booklet

The history class under the supervision of Mrs. John Davis has been making a booklet on the origin of Randall county. The different committees gave reports on the history of the schools; features of the country, past and present; early ranches, giving the history of the T-Anchor Ranch; history of Canyon, telling of the past and present; farming, present and past; list of early pioneers and their lives; and stories of wild plants and animal life past and present.

This booklet is going to be illustrated with appropriate pictures for each subject.

Law Class Wed.

Mr. E. Ray Smith, district representative of the Educators Life Insurance Company, which insures teachers only, gave the Commercial Law Class a brief outline of life insurance last Wednesday at a class period.

Mr. Smith said "85 per cent of the life insurance sold in the United States was sold by mutual all-line legal reserve companies and 15 per cent by stock companies."

"Out of the three kinds of policies, ordinary life, limited payment and endowment or annuity policies, the 20 pay policy which comes under limited payment has proved town fathers walked off with puffed chests and light steps. All except one. This town father was dressed in a manner that denoted a proud town. His looks denoted a progressive town, but he kept his face hidden, his steps slow and heavy.

1937 rolled around. Bands once more marched down the street. The town fathers once again held their heads high, but the highest head and the largest chest belonged to the father who but two years ago had departed with bowed head before. He answered to the name of Canyon.

In the fall of 1935 a new band master came to Canyon Public School. He taught band classes every day, and Canyon's band began to grow. When school was out in 1936, this man helped to work out a plan whereby his energies of the past year would not be wasted.

On June 2, 1936, Mr. R. G. Stephenson opened his summer band school on a regular salary from the school and no individual costs to the students. With more practice during the summer much progress was made and when school opened in the fall a playing organization assembled instead of a group of individuals with rusty horns.

So in 1937 the Canyon father held his head high.

Fathers and mothers, are you going to make this dream come true?

This is only part of what you missed if you didn't see "So We'll Just Pretend," three-act comedy, given by the Junior Class last Thursday night in the high school auditorium to benefit the Junior-Senior banquet that was given last night.

Seventeen Players

There were 17 members of the class in the play. They were: Ted Lonsdale, Melvin Calliham, Mary Brown (Gloria), Mavis Harden; Kate Hartman, Billy Greenfield; taxi driver, J. C. Pope Unable to Be Rastus

John B. Pope III was unable to take the part of Rastus, because of the mumps. Sherman Higdon took the place of Rastus two days before the play was given.

Tickets were sold by students in the grade school, and $1 was given to the boy and girl selling the most tickets. Bessie Bewley received $1 for selling 25 tickets and Dannie Stewart $1 for selling 20 tickets.

The play was directed by Miss Edith Shields, expression teacher, and Cleveland Jones, and Mr. John B. Pope, principal. Thompson Hardware provided the furniture for the play.

"Last year 35,500 people were killed in car accidents, 125,000 injured, and 100,000 disabled for life, making the death rate higher than ever before, which makes it much more urgent that everyone should be protected by insurance," quoted Mr. Smith.

Seniors Attend Governor's Day
At Carlsbad Cavern Saturday

By SARAH B. BOURN

After packing the baggage on top and cramming 31 people inside the school bus, the Senior Class left Canyon at 6:15 for Carlsbad Caverns last Friday morning. There were 27 students, Miss Lois Goodrich, sponsor, Mr. G. W. Cox and Mrs. W. T. Davis, chaperons, and Jim Upfold, driver.

A few miles this side of Carlsbad we stopped at the Mineral Springs to get a drink and see the flume that carries the water cross the river.

In Carlsbad we drove out to the swimming pool, where several students who had been thoughtful enough to bring their suits, went in. (Wesley Cox borrowed Annie Williams'!)

We then went to town where everyone crowded into an Indian curio shop to buy rings, souvenirs, moccasins, bracelets, and other things.

Watch Bats

Leaving Carlsbad about 5:30, we arrived at the cavern in time to see the bats coming out of the cave. It is estimated that there are about 3,000,000 bats living in the cave.

We returned to White's City, about six miles from the cavern, where we had reserved cabins. After supper we went to the museum to hear a lecture given by Mr. Charlie White. He told of the mummified Indians, the baskets, etc., in the cases in the museum. Mr. White (no relation to Jim White, discoverer of the cave), told

Nurse Gives Talk;
2A Gives Play to Study Club Thur.

"What is the present-day interpretation of health?" asked Miss Helen Hickman, college nurse, of the study club last Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the last meeting of this school year. Her subject was "The Present-Day Interpretation of Health."

"The former meaning was perfect physical being, but we have learned more," she continued. "A condition of physical and mental soundness is still too narrow a definition. Today our social standing is also included."

Great Health Interest

"The interest in health today is great," she declared. "We should be careful not to appraise it too highly as an isolated value. Instead we should recognize that it is of significance and meaning only in its relation to other values."

In concluding Miss Hickman said, "Let us think of health as a quality of life that enables us to serve best what we are suited for."

2-A Present Playlet

2-A, supervised by Mrs. Ola Beeson, presented a playlet, "Mother Goose in Healthland." Jane Campbell, dressed as Mother Goose, tapped her magic cane and each Mother Goose character entered. Thomas Harold Thompson was "Tommy Tucker," Marilyn Johnigan "Mary, Mary," T. Spencer Winn, and Earle Gene Peppard "Jack Horner." Ben Carolyn Dunaway represented "Bo Peep," Earl Lock Neff, "Bobby Shaftoe," Royce Boyce, "Little Boy Blue," Evelyn Black, "On Time Scholar," "King Cole," "King Wood," and "Jack and Jill" were played by Bobby Black, Tommy Rowan, and H. A. Mahle and Ruth Price respectively.

Once And For All

AN EDITORIAL

Little Johnny started to school when he was six years old. He was in the first grade. In the spring his teacher asked him if he wanted to be in the elementary school operetta. Johnny wanted to be in it and his mother wanted him to be, so he was in it.

The first year Johnny was a flower and his mother made him a costume. When little Johnny was in the second grade he was a cowboy. His mother made him another costume. Then Johnny was a sailor when he was in the third grade. Another costume for mother. And Johnny's last year, in the fourth grade, mother had to make another cowboy costume because his second grade suit was lost.

A movement is under way to collect all costumes made each year until eventually costumes will not have to be made. If the mothers who make costumes for the pageant Friday night and for such programs next year would donate the costumes to a costume department in the grade school, how many worries and how much money could be saved!

What is your opinion, mothers?

Play Cast Features English Lords, Lovers, Millionaires, Old Maids, Married Women, and A Comical Butler

Deah! Deah! Four bloomin' Henglishmen in one cast—two real and two real as possible. Up goes the price of monacles and tweeds! Bloaters and marmalade for breakfast! My word!

Comics Take the Prize

But that's not all. Oh, my, no! There is Sol Messer, known as Leslie Lisle in C. H. S., movie magnet; S. H. (Soak 'em Hard) Pratt, alias Sewel Cox, the dastardly villain who has the mortgage on the inn owned by Grimes (Joe Frank to you); Renee Lamour (Anna K. Overton) is an ambitious Hollywood chiseler; Waldo Flits, portrayed by Fred Hart, is the porter and general nuisance of the inn, who can play every part ever invented, from Uncle Tom to a Chinese coolie; Geraldine Heath takes the role of a big league news woman, Lulu Perkins. Then we have Sarah Bonnie Bourn posing as a certain Mrs. Skinner, and Marjorie Wilkinson as her daughter, Dora Mae. Olive Ordway, the old-maid health-faddist who eats raw cauliflower, is known to the people of Canyon as Ruby Guthrie. Then we have Janet Moore and Bill Douglas as the traditional college lovers, whose parts are taken by Fay Plaster and Overton Donnell. Mary Ella Davis is given the place of Marcella Jenks, the ambitious but none-too-shrewd news hawk, and then there's—but why go on? All these people will be turned loose Thursday night when the Senior Class brings you the fastest, funniest farce of the decade, "Guess Again." And don't forget Lord Wiggleton. Four Lord Wiggletons! Yes sir! Four.

Features Uplift Walk

You'll be doing the Uplift Walk for weeks after seeing "Guess Again" in the high school auditorium next Thursday, May 21, at 8 o'clock. This old world is in great need of cheering up and if this play can't do the work, it is high time to call the undertaker.

Mothers of Grade
Readers Give Banquet Mon.

Thirty readers of the intermediate grades were entertained with a masquerade banquet last Monday night in the Home Economics Department of Canyon High School under the supervision of Miss Edith Shields.

The readers were costumed to represent characters in some of the books they had read. Some of them were "Amy and Beth" from Little Women, and "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" who appeared in some of Mark Twain's novels.

Children Come Masked

The banqueteers were masked in such way that they could not be recognized. This and the character costumes were the main features of the program.

All intermediate grade pupils who had read as many as 20 books during the year received a reading certificate. Raynelle Rigbsy received a golden seal for her certificate, because she had read 40 books during the year.

The menu consisted of tomato cocktail, fried chicken, creamed potatoes, gravy, English peas, hot rolls, iced tea, pickles, and strawberry shortcake, which was furnished by the mothers of the readers. For decoration, pastel shades were used in crepe paper, flowers, and programs.

Scouts Win Two
Loving Cups

After three days and two nights crammed full of fun spent in Palo Duro Canyon, the Boy Scouts of Troop 30 returned from the annual District Boy Scout Field Day with two loving cups to display.

The team composed of Dean Nicholas, Kenneth Cofer, Hudson Prichard and Donnell Foster scored 10 points to win the archery cup. Donnell Foster, teamed with Leo Duflot, won the cup for tent pitching.

This is the most honors that members of Troop 30 have acquired in the last five years. They won the First Aid cup last year.

Sociology Class Visits Home For Insane Tuesday

Twenty-seven members of one of Prof. J. L. Dufflot's sociology classes visited the state home for the insane at Wichita Falls, Tuesday. Arrangements for the inspection of the home were made with Charles W. Castener, who is its head.

Leaving Canyon at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, the party arrived in Wichita Falls shortly after 11 and were guests at the home. The next step of the trip was a lecture by Dr. A. T. Hanretta, the resident psychiatrist. Next, members of the class were shown through several wards.

The trip was considered very profitable and successful. Professor Dufflot commented especially on the helpfulness and courtesy with which the students were treated. Most of them had never visited an institution of this kind before.

Mrs. J. A. Brewer and Fred Brewer of Stamford are visitors this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Foster. They plan to go on to Dalhart for a short visit before returning to their home.

Government Rain Gauge Gets Big Rain Tuesday

Three inches of moisture fell in Canyon Tuesday afternoon, according to the measuring equipment at the Warwick home. Nothing else indicated such a heavy downpour, and Miss Olive Schramm finally reached the conclusion that the rain was supplemented by a water hose when the grass had been watered earlier in the afternoon. Only a very light shower fell.

be referred back to the community committeemen. It is therefore requested that all work sheets be filed only with the committeemen. They are being mailed to all known producers the last of this week.

Urged to File Work Sheets
Every farmer is urged to file a work sheet in order to protect his acreage base, whether or not he expects to later make application for a grant. The final date for filing them is May 23.

Acreage bases established on the old reduction contract will be taken as a guide for establishing the base for 1936 under the new program, with due allowance for crops not included in former contract.

Payments will be made to farmers who show compliance with the new program by shifting a minimum of 15 per cent of base acreage from such crops as wheat and grain sorghums to cover crops or approved soil building practices. This program enables farmers to shift to a good, sound soil saving plan without loss of income while the changes are being made.
